Teaching Statement

In our current times, the importance of education is paramount. The reason I want to teach is two-fold. First, I do not want to watch from the sidelines; I want to actively work towards a better future through education. Second, I love explaining difficult material and making students understand. The shine in their eyes after grasping a difficult concept is invaluable.